National Certification Management System (NCMS) for Veteran Owned Businesses Launched

Detroit, MI. The National Veteran Business Development Council (NVBDC) the leading third party certification organization for Veteran Owned Businesses has launched its National Certification Management Systems (NCMS). The NCMS provides Service Disabled and Veteran Owned Businesses (SDVOB/VOBs) and Sponsors with an easy and intuitive web based interface to complete the certification process. The NCMS provides a fast, accurate, and reliable way for SDVOB/VOBs, sponsors and employers to process, review and share SDVOB/VOBs certifications. The system also provides processes to the NVBDC users such as Certification Admins, Account Admins and Contractors to manage and approve the applications as well as assign tasks to team members using a simple workflow.

The NCMS application is made possible with a combination of very capable user interface, sophisticated middleware (logic/processes/workflow), persistent data store, scalable cloud based services and a variety of custom and third party backend services. The NCMS is a web-based application hosted in the cloud, accessible via the browser over a secure (https) connection.

“We are proud to announce that NCMS has been launched and available now with the data of our currently certified SDVOB/VOBs. All of us at the NVBDC are extremely grateful for our corporate and individual sponsors and donors and especially those who have used our system to find and employ our certified and reliable SDVOB/VOBs. Without these critically beneficial partnerships none of our accomplishments would have been possible and opportunities for our certified SDVOB/VOBs would be lagging.

The Kyyba group of companies led the effort to create the NCMS and specializes in staff augmentation, application software and software development. In operation for more than 17 years, they offer IT, engineering, technology, training, customized project solutions and business consulting services. We would not have the NCMS without Kyyba’s financial support, the outstanding work of their people and their Presidents’ overall leadership,” said Keith King, President of the NVBDC.

“We are so honored to have worked on this product that will help so many veterans around the country, ultimately leading to more business opportunities for the veterans.” – Tel Ganesan, President & CEO Kyyba, Inc.

Bill Matravers, President of Boxford Industries was the Lead Designer and Project Manager for the NCMS - a unique cloud-based business application used by Veteran Owned Businesses to achieve Veteran business Certification. With this application, the National Veteran Business Development Council (NVBDC) can extend our industry leading third-party SDVOB/VOB Certification process to businesses of all sizes throughout the United States. Bill's guidance and expertise has also been instrumental in the development of several of our critical back-end business operations.

The Orange Factory led the design and functionality of the NVBDC web site: www.nvbdc.org Ellen Duckman, Designer and President of the Orange Factory made all of the front end functions of the web site as easy to use as possible. She has worked with and on behalf of many veteran projects and veteran organizations, including twenty years as the creative director to a veteran owned advertising agency.

The forgoing extremely capable and generous technology companies have stepped forward on behalf of the NVBDC, built the NCMS capability so that together we can assist SDVOB/VOBs. The NVBDC is forever grateful for their patriotism and generosity. They went above and beyond the call to move the NVBDC to the next level of certification.

The National Veteran Business Development Council is a 501c3 non-profit foundation headquartered in Detroit, MI.
